WHAT:

Attorney General Dave Sunday joins law enforcement and community partners in announcing an expansion of the Law Enforcement Treatment Initiative (LETI), to include behavioral health and mental health services for program participants.

Lebanon County will become the 34th Pennsylvania county to launch LETI, and one of the first to launch with the expanded mental health component. PA LETI is a law enforcement-led treatment initiative that allows Pennsylvanians seeking treatment to use their local law enforcement, county officials, and community stakeholders, to contact the treatment services they need.
